

Dr. Kiran Lata Dangwal_Biographical Note

Dr. Kiran Lata Dangwal is an Associate Professor in the Department of Education at the University of Lucknow and a former additional dean of the academic cell, University of Lucknow.

Her area of expertise is in ICT enabled education, educational technology, with a focus on computer education and social science pedagogy in particular. She has always regarded the students' learning as her top priority, which is why she is always working on various educational assignments at the esteemed University of Lucknow. She has always kept her motto of educating the students as her primary goal and hence continuously being engaged in the different educational assignment in the prestigious University of Lucknow.

In order to impart knowledge and disseminate information with the intention of enlightening the teachers, researchers, and scholars, she has published articles focusing on developments in the field of educational technology in renowned magazines and journals on national and international levels. She has published more than seventy significant research papers in the field of education for the benefit of educationists in addition to authoring, editing and translating twenty-six books.

She has been invited to give lectures at prestigious universities, colleges, and institutions in India, Europe, Canada, South Africa, Indonesia, Thailand, Malaysia, and Myanmar. As a result of her unwavering approach and innovations in the educational field over the course of her twenty-seven-years career as a teacher, she has received numerous honours for her work from various institutions and groups, including the Shiksha Ratna and Uttarakhand Gaurav Samman.

In addition to her primary responsibility towards the University of Lucknow, she has held the post of president literary club sanskritiki, vice president of the teachers association, assistant provost, assistant proctor, the deputy coordinator admission, NSS program officer in the University of Lucknow. She is also the first female professor at the University of Lucknow who trains NCC cadets as an Associate NCC Officer. Because of her dedication in NCC, she has also received the DGNCC Commendation Card, the title of best NCC Officer, the Excellence Award for Best Lecture Presentation, and the Camp Planning Award. She has the title of Honorary Major.

She is well versed in computer education and technology and has created a variety of free e-content, MOOCs and OERs for teachers and students. She has developed MOOC (Massive Open Online Course) in UNESCO's international mentoring online program, OE4BW.

She has a good command over computers and technology and have developed many open educational resources, e-content, educational videos for teachers and students. She is an Experts for evaluation of E-Content in Central Institute of Educational Technology (CIET), NCERT. She has produced and uploaded numerous E-contents on various government platforms. She has been awarded for uploading highest e-content in UP government portal. She is member/Resource person for developing Open Educational resources-Sub Committee in National Council for Teacher Education.

She has been able to organize and participate in many national and international seminars, webinars, workshops. She is the founder editor-in-chief of the TechoLearn journal an international journal of educational technology and an associate editor of many other journals and the member of the international advisory review board in Asian journal of management sciences and education Oyama, Japan.

She is a known personality amongst the educationist in India. Dr Kiran Lata Dangwal has been able to achieve this recognition due to her exceptional zeal, unflinching commitment, loyalty and professional acumen towards the organization and there is a long way ahead and challenges yet to be negotiated in times to come.
